

The Office for Graduate Education at HMS presents

Integrative paths in the scholarship of teaching and learning: a scientist's journey

We invite members of the community to join a special seminar about the Scholarship of Teaching and Learning (SoTL) and its relevance to our work as educators

Speaker

Dr. Kathy Takayama

The founding Executive Director for Professional Development and Diversity, Equity & Inclusion at the Okinawa Institute of Science and Technology Graduate University (OIST) in Japan

Learning Objectives

- Learn about the multiple entry points for scientists in the scholarship of teaching and learning (SoTL)
- Gain an appreciation for what SoTL is/is not to ultimately enhance teaching and learning in our disciplines
- Explore how SoTL helps us unpack our disciplinary "signature pedagogies"
- Ultimately deepen our understanding of teaching and learning through interdisciplinary inquiry

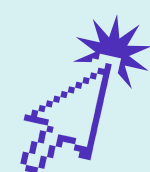

January 31, 2023

10 AM -12 PM, TMEC 448

Registration required

HMS Longwood Campus

260 Longwood Avenue Boston, MA

Registration Link

<https://forms.office.com/r/XHYsHGnZ2u>

Email Kelly_Nicolas@hms.harvard.edu for more information